Sally Mathis Hartwig Professorship in Gerontological Nursing

The University of Iowa College of Nursing announces an exciting career opportunity for a senior faculty member with a distinguished career in gerontological nursing to join our leadership in facilitating scholarship and development of the next generation of scientists in gerontological nursing. The Sally Mathis Hartwig Professorship in Gerontological Nursing provides resources and opportunities for continued research engagement, mentorship of faculty and students, and shaping the future of health care and the profession. The candidate will lead the College of Nursing's Csomay Center for Gerontological Excellence and advance collegiate and interdisciplinary aging opportunities.

Join a dynamic faculty within a collaborative research University with excellence in aging research. Excellent interdisciplinary collaboration potential also exists through the Interdisciplinary Geriatric Workforce Enhancement Initiative, Institute for Clinical and Translation Science, National Health Law and Policy Resource Center, Public Policy Center, and Institute of Neuroscience and other health care networks. Candidates with well-established programs of research in gerontological nursing and a sustained record of extramural support are encouraged to apply. Candidates eligible for appointment as Full Professor will be considered.

As a leader in nursing research, education, and practice innovations, the UI College of Nursing has received national recognition through 15 years of funding for a P30 Geriatric Nursing Interventions Research Center; 15 years of funding for the Iowa Hartford Center of Geriatric Nursing Excellence; and national recognition as a strong Gerontological Nursing Program.

Iowa City is consistently voted one of the best places to live in the country. It is where small town hospitality meets big city amenities, where friendly meets adventurous. It’s a place where everyone’s welcome.

Required Qualifications

- Earned doctorate in nursing or a doctorate in a related field with a graduate degree in nursing from an accredited school of nursing
- Eligible for or currently licensed to practice nursing in the state of Iowa
- Focused program of research related to gerontological nursing
- Evidence of intraprofessional collaboration to advance team science
- Successful record of funding and scholarship, consistent with appointment as tenured Full Professor

Application materials include a letter describing relevant experiences and interests; current curriculum vitae; and contact information for three references (contacted only with permission). To apply, visit Requisition #73816 at https://jobs.uiowa.edu

For more information:
Keela Herr, PhD, RN, AGSF, FGSA, FAAN
Kelting Professor in Nursing
Associate Dean for Faculty
The University of Iowa College of Nursing
306 CNB
Iowa City, IA 52242
keela-herr@uiowa.edu
319-335-7080

The University of Iowa is an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer. All qualified applicants are encouraged to apply and will receive consideration for employment free from discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, age, sex, pregnancy, sexual orientation, gender identity, genetic information, religion, associational preference, status as a qualified individual with a disability, or status as a protected veteran. For additional information, contact the Office of Equal Opportunity and Diversity, 319-335-0705.

The college is committed to promoting diversity and inclusion in achieving our education, research, service and practice missions, as demonstrated through our Pillars of Diversity.